Maine Republican Convention.

PORTLAND, June 13.—The Maine republican convention met this morning. Frye nominated as temporary chairman Eugene Hale, who was received with much enthusiasm. Hale said one of the largest conventions ever held in Maine attests the undying vigor of the republican party in the state. This campaign must end the contest for governor, congressman, senators and county officers to be chosen. You do not want Gov Plaisted to be continued in his seat, but you do want a distinguished and eloquent colleague to return to the senate for six years more. [Great applause.]

Hale believed he president was trying to bring all shades of the republican party into accord. He has a difficult task, but discharges it wisely.

Col Robie was nominated for governor on the first ballot by 32 majority.

Resolutions adopted by the convention include the usual platitudes and declare that American industries should be protected against unjust competition of cheap foreign labor, that American ship building should be encouraged, deprecating the effort to overthrow the present banking system of the country, opposing abolition or reduction of internal tax on liquors and advocating gold and silver only for legal tender, favor constitutional prohibition of sale of liquor, oppose polygamy, deplore death of Garfield, and tender assurances of confidence to Arthur. The convention proceeded to vote for congressmen. Candidates, and Thomas B. Reed, Nelson Dingley, Chas. A. Boutelle and Seth D. Milliken were nominated. Convention adjourned.

Garibaldi's American Home.

NEW YORK, June 13.—At the old home of Garibaldi on Staten Island, now occupied by his partner in candle making, Signor Meucci, Italian societies of New York and delegations from neighboring towns gathered to-day to honor the memory of the great liberator. After inspection of the house and articles which belonged to Garibaldi, addresses were made by several Italians and Mr Bachman Brewer, who owns the house, announced that he had presented the house and grounds to the Italian company, imposing only one condition, which he knew would be cheerfully complied with, which was that Meucci be allowed to occupy it during his lifetime. Great cheering followed the announcement.

A Brute Lynched.

ST LOUIS, June 13.—A special from Jackson, Miss., to the Post-Dispatch says George Beckett, a negro attempted to outrage a seven year old daughter of a man named Agnew in Monroe county yesterday. A party of citizens, with shotguns and bloodhounds, started in pursuit of the brute, who was run down near Tombigbee river. He refused to surrender and defied his pursuers, who opened fire on him, wounding him seriously. He was taken to jail and a guard placed over him, but at night a crowd overpowered the jailor, broke into Beckett's cell, dragged him out and hanged him to the limb of a tree.

THE CHINESE CURSE.

New York to have a Taste of Chinese Cheap Labor—One Thousand Mongolians to Engage in Cigar Making.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.

NEW YORK, June 13.—The following is the ... story in full: A combination of manufacturers have entered into a contract with the Six Companies at San Francisco for 1000 Chinese to be employed in this and their cities, the right to the east, in the manufacture of cigars. This scheme will threaten the livelihood of white workingmen ... tion originated in the ... by the president of the Chinese bill lately passed in congress restricting mongolian immigration to this country. Since its ... has been specified for the full and strict enforcement of this law. The officials of the six companies at once determined to take all the advantages possible of the limited time allowed, and with this end in view at once decided to import as many men from China as possible to fill vacancies caused by departures eastward of thousands now on the Pacific coast. It was also arranged that the agents of the six companies in New York, and other eastern cities be communicated with so that they might exert their influence and find a source through which cigar makers who abound in excess in San Francisco could be quickly hired or contracted out so that when they were brought here their places might be filled right off by the immigrants from Hongkong and Pekin without any detrimental loss to the almond eyed race, and with additional profit to the companies. The agents here privately paid a visit to the manufacturers in and about this city. The results of the past winter's strike among cigar makers and their hands were still fresh, and fearing another similar movement, and becoming aware of the vast saving that could be made by the introduction of celestial labor they agreed to consider the proposition for Chinese hands. After but little deliberation and knowing that the agreement must hastily be drawn up, these manufacturers dickered on the employment among them all, of at first 1000 opium eating cigar makers. These, it is said, are due here within a few days as the time is ... for the enforcement of the anti-Chinese act expires in the early part of next month. The men who are to bring celestials in competition with the poor Germans and Bohemians who go to make up the majority of cigar makers in this city, have been endeavoring to keep the scheme as private as possible in order to avoid trouble. When these Chinamen are received or landed, it is arranged to take them at once to their different quarters. These places will be fixed up in a cheap locality where the rooms for the men to work and live in will not cost much in the way of rental. They will be put to the piece or hundred, as they turn out work, but in no instance will these Mongolians be paid as much as white men. The contracts, however, are not to be binding as those executed at San Francisco, but where the men give full satisfaction according to the terms, it is agreed to retain them on an extension of contract. In order to ascertain what effect this remarkable phase of labor in this part of the country would have on the cigar trade a Mercury reporter yesterday saw Mr Jno Stratton, who said:

"I have just returned from San Francisco and had somewhat of a good insight into the Chinese labor agitation and their mode of living and have come to the conclusion there is but one side to the question. I have heard since my return here that some concerns on the west side were about to introduce Chinese cigar makers, and I think it is the same scheme to which you allude. We would, under no consideration employ such hands and should be among the first to discourage any such intent. These Six Companies are chiefly located in San Francisco, and are composed of six distinct organizations under different unpronounceable names, but coming under one control. The way they are furnishing the cigar makers in San Francisco has been the means of almost keeping out of employment, while hands there. When the men are contracted for at the start they go in as green hands for about six months. Then during the second six months service they are paid at the rate of ten cents a day, and at the end of a year are generally found to be proficient hands. At this time they are given wages ranging at the rate of from $3 to $4 50 a week."

"How do they live?"

"In the first place, one of them who has passed from the control of the Six Companies will hire a room at about $3 a week. In here he will place beds or boards upon which about 12 men can sleep. In this place they live and eat all. When one of them comes to sleep they are permitted to rent just eight hours, and when this time expires they are aroused and the next lot in turn allowed to retire, so that all times of day and night, the work is going on and the money is being made. Now you can't get white men to compete against such labor. When these Chinamen first began to make cigars in San Francisco there were hardly any Chinamen at the work. To-day there are not fifty white cigar makers in the Golden Gate city and upwards of 10,000 celestials are at present turning out the weed."

"How are these cigars disposed of?"

Well, they have found their way out of San Francisco to St Louis and Texas and up to within a year ago were shoved out on the New York market until now the country is really glutted with such stuff. These could never be sold, I am certain, in this part of the union without they were disguised. You see, in the cigar business a great many jobbers have been in the habit of concealing their source of supply and keeping the names of the manufacturers off the cigars. If the name of a respectable manufacturer appears on the box the jobbers fear that one might go direct to him to procure their stock. Fortunately for the leading manufacturers, we have one way to get at these Chinese people in the manufacture of all cigars and tobacco material. By law we are compelled to have our establishments registered and designated to the district internal revenue office, so that when these Chinamen locate in factories here the number of their concerns can be ascertained from the revenue records as has been done in San Francisco.

The reporter next saw the president of the International Cigar Makers Union, Mr A. Strasser, who said: "This scheme is evidently put under way by the Six Companies, on account of the great moral influence that is being brought to bear against Chinamen in San Francisco by the passage of the act that puts a stop to their further immigration. Since the success of this move in San Francisco I have been in receipt of many letters calling on me for white men to take the place of the rice-eaters. The people there have become completely disgusted with them. We are not really afraid of them here because they are too slow at their work to suit the manufacturers. The only opportunity for these Chinese to take our places is when a long strike is in progress and the employers will send to any place in the world to get skilled labor to pull through, and with these Chinamen can only turn out from 150 to 300. Then the latter all work on a good class of material and not such stuff as is handled by Chinese. The tenement house system has got the manufacturing of cigars in this city down to a level that can hardly be reached, but when the question of cheapness of labor comes into consideration certainly there is no telling what may occur. For all grades of labor cheapness rules the day. The way the Chinamen work in California, is even worse than our tenement house system, for there instead of a certain number of hands working in an ordinary way at their benches or stools, resting on the floor another tier of benches and Chinamen are fixed up over their heads on a built up gallery that extends under the ceiling, so that while about 15 hands are working in a small, close tenement house room here they have as many as 30 or 50 in the same space. Then here men and women in the trade live on meat and vegetables with an odd glass of beer, whilst a bowl of rice and pipe of opium will suffice to keep a Chinaman a day. They are all under the six companies, and I can say without fear of contradiction, this concern virtually owns those like slaves and rarely in many cases, do any Chinamen do any handling of money for perhaps about three years after their arrival here. At the end of that time the companies inform him he can go free as he has paid his passage expenses and incidentals.

The reporter also learned that a strike among the white cigar makers in this city is in contemplation and it is not unlikely that the importation of celestial labor is intended to head off or defeat this movement. Preparations are being made for it with all possible secrecy by the union. They state that they will not enter upon a strike without they are fully prepared to meet a long time resistance. The explanation is that heretofore the cause of striking ... makers has always been weakened by withdrawal or insufficiency of money for their support during the strike from the funds of the union. But the union is to make strikes self supporting and for this purpose it is alleged preparations are now being made to secure a large factory building in the city and fit it up for a cigar factory. If a strike is ordered in a certain factory the strikers will at once proceed to the ... factory and make cigars for a few dollars a th... The postmaster general is understood to be favorable to some kind of relief ... the department. Senator Ferry has reported what appears to be the most practical measure for public convenience. It authorizes the department to issue a secret message card. This is nothing more than a postal card with a flap gummed along the edges to be sold like the ordinary envelopes over the message. The card is to cost no more than the one now in use and to weigh no more, but will be useful for all private business as safely as a letter. The bill is on the senate calendar and as congressmen are getting in a hurry to go home it is not at all certain any thing will be done this session.

The Star Route Cases.

The grand jury reconvened and proceeded with consideration of star route cases, taking up route No. 35,040 under contract of Mr J. M. Salisbury from Pembina to Fargo. A number of witnesses from that section went before them in that connection.

Orders for expedition signed by the second assistant postmaster general were examined and if they were found not to be in accordance with laws their correction by the second assistant postmaster general would be necessary before they could have been paid. At conclusion of the examination of this witness Ingersoll exclaimed, "Bring us another witness just like this one."

Inspector Woodward testified: All papers received by him from Mr Brewer postal employe had been kept without change in his custody. No newspaper man had ever seen them or written an article in his room since he had taken possession of them. Witness was subjected to severe cross examination by Wilson, with the purpose of showing he had confused and mixed up different papers and perhaps placed them in wrong pockets, but he maintained nothing of the kind happened to his knowledge, although they may have been misplaced through accident. Merrick then offered papers in evidence. They are orders published and affidavits referring to different routes in evidence, saying in reply to inquiry, he intended in present during the trial all papers on file in the department referring in any way to these contracts. The papers will then be presented in order, the first being an order for increase and expedition upon the route from Kearney to Kent, Nebraska. Defense made a point: The paper was signed by one French and not by Brady as set out in the indictment. A long argument ensued as to admissibility of this particular set of papers. The court ruled that the paper might be admitted as matter explanatory of all ... in the indictment. Exceptions were noted. Brewer was recalled and said: Mr Root, correspondent of the New York Times, had been in his room several times and had examined papers. Root had been introduced by Judge Riley, another employe in the postoffice department, who said Postmaster-General James had directed Root to be allowed access to the files. Altogether witness thought several weeks were spent in the examination. Recess. After recess Norton was recalled by government, and in answer to Wilson said Wheeler had talked with Bliss after giving his testimony, and Bliss had told him he had made a mistake in his testimony as to the revisionary power possessed by the pay ... over orders for increase and expedition. In answer to prosecution witness said they could not correct these orders they must pass them when they came in in the second assistant postmaster general's office. They did however go over the ... in cases of increase. Merrick again proceeded with the introduction of papers. On the back of one of the orders for increase and expedition were the words "Ok this Brady" in blue pencil and Merrick asserted it was Brady's usual method of signing orders. With one of the petitions was found a map ... that signatures to it must be ... because the law did not require such a paper to be ... the department. After ... tion was overruled and paper admitted ... tions were again noted. The next paper was a letter from Senator Saunders to the postmaster general in which he sets forth the need of inhabitants of Loup valley for increased mail service. This letter was dated senate chamber, February 6, 1879. A petition embracing the same route followed, and Merrick called attention of court to the interlineations and erasures upon it, the words "Schedule thirteen hours according to Merrick's statement, having been inserted after the signature of the petition and before its filing. Peck's oath as to the number of men and stock needed to run the route at the increased speed ordered was next admitted although defense pointed out the fact that it was dated prior to formation of the alleged conspiracy. Letters from persons in Kearney, Nebraska, to Senator Saunders asking whether service could not be increased, were read by Merrick and attention was directed to the fact that increase, and not expedition, was asked for. These letters had been referred by Senator Saunders to the second assistant postmaster general with recommendation that prayers be granted. A sub-contract by which Vail agreed to perform the service for Peck upon this route, for $900 per annum, was ready. Minor appeared as attorney for Peck and Boredell as witness in this instrument. It contains a stipulation that Sub Contractor Vail shall receive all of the extra compensation allowed for expedition and increase. Objection was made and sustained to the introduction of this paper, and after comment by Judge Wylie upon the smallness of the work accomplished during the day court adjourned.

Witness knew the firm of Hale & Nightingale and believed them reputable gentlemen. When he endorsed their petition he thought they would not have asked for service if it had not been necessary and he had not since changed his mind. The petition was handed witness for examination. He knew several persons who signed it and regarded their signatures as sufficient evidence of necessity of service.

Bliss asserted that the words "Thirteen hours schedule" had been inserted after the signature. None of the other papers on file called for this schedule.

Totten strenuously denied this and said the prosecution had been harping on those three words ever since the beginning of the trial. Why he asked have they not produced proof? In truth he said the senator was a good witness for their side.

Re-examination of witness developed nothing.

In the star route trial to-day Merrick said he proposed to take up the route, scrutinize, and completely dispose of one route before taking up another. Merrick put in evidence various certificates and other papers from the auditor of the postoffice department. Senator Saunders, of Nebraska, was sworn and said he endorsed the petition for increase on the route from Kearney to Kent. Did not recollect how the petition came to him originally but thought it came with a number of others of similar character, and had been brought here by a citizen of Kearney. It was not his custom to retain petitions for any length of time which had elapsed between endorsement and filing of this one. He was not prepared to say at this late day, three years after filing the petition, that the interlineation "13 hours schedule" had been inserted after his endorsement, but it appeared in different ink from that of the body of the petition. He had only a general recollection of other letters referring to this route.

Democratic Discouragement.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Since the republican majority in the house of representatives have unseated three southern democrats who claimed to have been elected, reports have reached democratic managers here of great discouragement among southern democrats. The feeling is gaining to the effect that if the republicans obtain a majority in the next house they would proceed to unseat every southern democrat whose seat was contested and the consequence would be that candidates in close districts would see very little encouragement for them to make a congressional race. These reports excited no little apprehension here and after conferring together southern members have determined to make a thorough canvass for the purpose of ascertaining if possible what the political complexion of the next house would probably be. Two of the members have made this canvass within a few days and as a result of their inquiries have ... republican majority of ten in the next house. The Christiancy Case.

The deposition of Chas Fuery taken at Providence, in behalf of ex Senator Christiancy in the latter's divorce suit against his wife has been received here. In the latter part of 1879, deponent went from New York to Aspinwall on the steamer Colon. Mrs Christiancy was one of the passengers. Before the steamer had been a few days out from New York he noted the intimacy between her and a man with whom he was then not acquainted, but who he afterwards met and knew as Lieut Haight. Mrs Christiancy and Haight were together almost all the time throughout the voyage and their flirting was subject to unfavorable remarks.

The Machine must be Greased.

Circulars issued from headquarters of the republican congressional committee appealing for contributions for campaign purposes are being circulated in every department of government in this city among all classes of employes, apprentices, laborers and mechanics in the navy yard employed at the capitol and messengers in the departments are all asked to pay in assessments amounting to from $1 to $2. This circular sets forth that the committee is organized in the interest of the republican party and that funds are needed for preparing, printing and circulating documents in the coming congressional election.

Washington Notes.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—House committee on pensions agreed to recommend a pension of $600 per year for ex President Taylor's daughter.

Representative Phelps introduced in the house yesterday by request a bill similar in its provisions to one introduced in the senate early in the session by Senator Windom authorizing the construction of a north branch of the Union Pacific railroad and a telegraph line from Sioux City westward to connect with the Union Pacific railroad. This authorization to construct the road is extended under provisions of the acts of 1862 and 1864 to the Missouri & Niobrara Valley R R Co.

Secretary Folger says the statement that he had determined to make a change in the chief of engraving and printing is without foundation. After consulting with Secretary Folger Attorney General Brewster decided to instruct the district attorney to recommend a nolle prosequi in the case of Brockway on the ground that two old indictments are still hanging over him and he can be sentenced at any time if he does not live up to the terms of immunity granted him.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Pacific railroads are making an effort to prevent passage in the house of the bill which passed the senate Friday compelling payment of state taxes on lands granted to roads. They have heretofore only obtained patents for their lands when a bargain is made to sell them to settlers, thus avoiding payment of millions of dollars in taxes. This bill compels payment of taxes on lands granted them whether there is a prospective sale or not.

Notes from the Hawaiian Isles.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—Per steamer City of New York from Honolulu, June ... A remarkable revolution has taken place in the politics of this little kingdom. The Situation at Alexandria Daily Becoming More Critical.

EUROPEANS LEAVING THE CITY AS RAPIDLY AS POSSIBLE

A Renewal of Rioting Expected and Ironclads Preparing to Protect the Foreign Element—Increase in the Royal Family of Russia.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.

LONDON, June 13.—In ... this afternoon Lord Dalhousie moved the second reading of the bill legalizing marriage with a deceased wife's sister; rejected ayes 128, noes 132.

Lord Granville stated that Admiral Seymour was empowered to land sailors at Alexandria if necessary.

In commons Chamberlain, president of the board of trade, replying to questions said he had referred the subject of spurious hearse from America made from ... The department thought the ... were ... sufficient to deal with the question of its sale in the United Kingdom.

Trevelyan, chief secretary for Ireland, said that Davitt ... would be offered his release if he engaged to go to America. Having refused this condition he cannot be released.

Gladstone hoped that discussion of the repression bill would be accelerated. It was not intended, he said, to ask urgency yet.

LONDON, June 13.—In the commons this afternoon Dilke, under foreign secretary, stated the government had informed Malet, British consul general in Egypt, that they think his place is with the khedive at Alexandria. He supposed if consuls went to Alexandria a number of Europeans would also go there. He declared the present anarchy in Egypt would not be allowed to continue. The garrison at Alexandria had been increased 12,000. On the outbreak of the riot Admiral Seymour made preparations to land a large body of marines and telegraphed Malet for leave to do so. The latter however refused after conferring with other consuls. The purpose of Dervisch Pasha and the khedive in going to Alexandria is to check any further outbreak and obviate the necessity of the landing of marines.

Arrabi Bey and the Riots.

LONDON, June 12.—The admiralty has received dispatches confirming the report of the murder of the engineer of the Superb. Fighting at Alexandria except the deliberate attack upon the consuls when proceeding to the residence of the governor, seems to have been confined to Arabs and Levantines. No English residents are reported wounded. A Times correspondent at Cairo says the responsibility for the riots upon Arab Pasha. Dervish Pasha has summoned him to resign and there seemed no alternative but submission or defiance, but since the riots broke out Dervish Pasha had to appeal to Arabi Pasha as commanding the only available force, to restore order.

A New Report.

CAIRO, June 12.—The following report of the riot has been received from Alexandria. Cookson, English consul, says that when he was proceeding from the Great square to the governor's residence he saw two Europeans respectably dressed, and apparently naval officers in plain clothes, knocked down. A Greek was shot and killed by a soldier five yards from Cookson's carriage, and others even closer were knocked down and stabbed. A soldier out at the consul's kavass with a sword. The carriage of the Greek consul was stopped by a number of soldiers and the occupants dragged out. The consul was severely beaten. Cookson escaped severe maltreatment by the coachman lashing his horses, but he was struck on the head and one of his arms was broken. The Italian consul was wounded by a stone. The wife of the Austrian consul general was attacked and insulted and accounts of the origin of the riot are conflicting.

Order to be Preserved.

LONDON, June 13.—A dispatch from Cairo says at a meeting of foreign consuls with Dervisch Pasha, the khedive and Arabi Pasha a solemn engagement was entered into that the khedive should undertake to maintain order and that Arabi Pasha should strictly obey the khedive's commands. Dervisch Pasha has agreed to accept joint responsibility with Arabi Pasha for the preservation of order. A project to carry off the khedive, Dervisch Pasha and the British and French consuls to the citadel is freely discussed.

An Alarmed Populace.

ALEXANDRIA, June 13.—Europeans are leaving as fast as they can. The consuls has issued a proclamation advising Europeans to remain tranquil and expressing confidence that the army will be able to maintain order. One hundred persons were killed in the riot Sunday. The position is a terrible one. Any small force the fleet could land would only suffice to excite the Arabs to a general massacre.

The Trouble in Egypt.

LONDON, June 13.—A Standard dispatch from Alexandria reports that 1500 troops have arrived there from Cairo.

CAIRO, June 13.—Dervish Pasha and Arabi Pasha did not go to Alexandria as announced but only sent an aide de camp.

There have been numerous assaults on Europeans by Arabs in Cairo.

From Cairo: Unless there is an overwhelming Turkish force at Alexandria before Sunday there will be a worse outbreak than last Sunday. The khedive and Dervisch Pasha have arrived at Razeltine palace which can be protected by the guns of the fleet.

LONDON, June 13.—Egyptian unified securities have fallen two per cent within an hour on reports of further trouble in Egypt.

A Collision Imminent.

ALEXANDRIA, June 13.—The English man-of-war Superb came round to the harbor Sunday at midnight. The report that she was about to land marines to protect the consulate having spread soldiers directly crowded the beach and the boats of the Superb were ordered to keep off. The proportion of Arabs killed in the late riot is insignificant. The fleet is almost the only source of danger. When the French stationed a vessel opposite their consulate to receive refugees she was immediately surrounded by Egyptian steam launches, which remained and a collision may occur at any moment.

The Riots not Political.

LONDON, June 12.—In commons Dilke, under foreign secretary, read telegrams from Alexandria stating that the vice consul is convalescent and riots were not of a political character. A dispatch from Alexandria dated at 2 o'clock this afternoon says the town is quiet. Telegrams from Constantinople and from Malet, consul general at Alexandria, are reassuring regarding safety of the khedive.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, June 13.

House bill passed dividing Iowa into two judicial districts and authorizing the Sioux City and Pacific railroad company to construct a bridge over the Missouri.

When the doors reopened Pendleton presented a petition from ten thousand citizens of Cincinnati and Covington asking passage of a civil service reform bill.

Garland from judiciary committee reported as a substitute for the relief of A. Sidney Bebbe and similar measures the original bill amending section 1218 of revised statutes. It referred to disqualification from appointment to any position in the army of the United States and for other purposes. It amends the section so as to read: No person who held a commission in the army or navy of the United States at the beginning of the late rebellion and resigned his place and afterwards served in any capacity in the military, naval or civil service of the so called confederate states or other states in insurrection during the rebellion shall be appointed to any position in the army of the United States.

Section 2. That section 1756 of revised statutes be and the same is hereby repealed and hereafter oaths to be taken by any person elected or appointed to any office of honor or profit, whether in the civil, military or naval service except the president of the United States shall be as prescribed in section 1757 of revised statutes, but this repeal is not to affect the oath as prescribed in existing statutes respecting special or subordinate officers and employes.

Sec. 3. That section 820 of revised statutes, imposing certain disqualifications upon grand and petit jurors of the United States, section 821 of revised statutes prescribing the oath for grand jurors in courts of the United States be and the same are hereby repealed.

The Japanese indemnity bill came up as unfinished business, the question being upon Morrill's amendment to pay back, in legal tender coin, the exact sum received from the Japanese government, namely $785,000. After discussion the amendment prevailed—yeas 23, nays 20.

Morrill moved to further amend by directing the destruction of bonds under control of the state department known as the Japanese indemnity bonds.

Morgan said the amendment, just adopted reversed all previous congressional action on the subject and would turn over to Japan $140,000 proposed to be distributed to Admiral McDougall and his men of the Wyoming and Taking. He said that officer was now compelled to look to Japan for pay, and that the reason for this was none other than that McDougall was a democrat. That gentleman was suffering to-day because he had not received the money, but he would probably receive fairer treatment from the democrats of Japan than the promise of his countrymen.

Ingalls said that by the amendment the senate would have voted $75,000 more than Japan ever asked and went on to say that the claim had been for years in private hands. He had voted to pay the principal and interest in the last congress, but he knew now what he did not know then, that the Japanese minister had accepted from his diplomatic position and has appeared as a lobbyist in support of the claim, making his communication not through the state department, but through a senator to influence the action of the senate to favor return of the fund.

Morgan—I am bound to say that statement is historically untrue.

A long wrangle ensued between Ingalls and Morgan. Ingalls went on with criticisms made by Morgan in course of debate as to assurances which that senator claimed to have received from the Japanese minister that nothing was to be paid by Japan for lobbying on the bill and that the government was entirely willing that $140,000 should be retained to pay the officers and crew of the Wyoming and Taking. He (Ingalls) knew a person professedly acting for the Japanese government who had been urging the bill upon congressmen and preparing pamphlets.

Morgan said it might not be wise for him to repeat in the senate denials of lobby influence on the part of any representative of Japan which, upon inquiry at the legation, would be received.

Windom, chairman of committee on foreign relations from which the bill was reported, said he spoke deliberately when he asserted to pass the bill as amended would be a burning shame to the United States. It was now an admission that $785,000 belonged to Japan, and had been unjustly withheld. Under their agreement with Japan it had no right to receive any indemnity, and benefit of open ports of Japan and there could be no consistency on part of the United States as one of those powers in returning its portion of the money received, and withholding profits which that money has earned. He said the scarecrow about Japan introducing a lobby on the floor amounted only to this. That a Japanese official had answered questions put to him. After further remarks the bill was laid over as unfinished business.

Logan insisted upon amendments to the army appropriation bill and Logan, Plumb and Ransom were appointed conferees. The clause relative to compulsory retirement of army officers will not go to the committee, the house having concurred in the senate amendment designating 64 as the age, instead of 62 as originally proposed in the house bill. The proposition of the senate to make retirement optional instead of compulsory, after forty years service will receive consideration of the conference committee as will also the amendments exempting from the retirement provision professors of the military academy, and providing that the general of the army shall be retired without reduction on his current pay and allowances. Adjourned.

House.

Joint resolution passed authorizing the secretary of war to erect at a cost of $10,000 a memorial column at Washington's headquarters at Newburg, N Y, and appropriating $15,000 to aid in defraying expenses of a celebration to be held there this year, on the centennial of the anniversary of the declaration of peace and providing for the appointment of a select committee of five senators and eight representatives to make arrangements for the celebration.

Townshend of Illinois, offered an amendment providing that compensation of ... be paid out of the treasury as provided by this bill shall be reduced one per centum per annum, making it unlawful to pay any political assessment by such persons, and declaring it guilty of misdemeanor, for any person who demands or receives such assessment. Ruled out on point of order.

Townshend thought it ought to bring a blush of shame and remorse to the face of any honest man to accept a seat in congress bought by the bread money of families half starved clerks and laborers. The spoils system was the foulest blot on our free institutions. If it had not been for money obtained during the last campaign from mail contractors who were now under indictment, Garfield would have gone democratic and a man perhaps a maniac would not be about to hang for the murder of a stalwart president.

Holman offered an amendment prohibiting political assessments and making violation of that provision punishable by fine and dismissal the salary of the person dismissed to be converted into the treasury. Ruled out on point of order.

Cox of New York having addressed himself to the question of political assessment, Kasson, of Iowa, said he should be glad to cooperate with the gentleman from New York in any effort to stop oppression, if there was any upon subordinate employes of the government, and he desired that a law should be carefully prepared which would, if necessary impeach any officer who should in any way punish a subordinate for declining to contribute, but he would not impair the personal right of a man to give his money for political purposes provided he did so freely.

Springer condemned the practice of levying political assessments and stated the democratic party when in control of the house had not resorted to it, a statement which was, however denied by Valentine of Nebraska.

Kasson offered an amendment embodying the civil service reform proposition of Curtin of Pennsylvania but ruled out of order.

Springer then offered a similar proposition with an additional proviso that extra clerks in the pension office shall be men who served in the union army.

Townshend of Illinois offered an amendment reducing letter postage to 2 cents. Ruled out.

Pending long discussion upon the last section of the bill directing the secretary of war to transfer all pension and ... records in the ... general's office to the office of the adjutant general, committee rose and the house adjourned.

An entire block of buildings at Dowagiac, Mich., burned on the 13th inst. Loss heavy and insurance small.

Now is the Time to Look to Your Roofs.

C. F. PEARSON'S ROOFING COMPOSITION. Patented Nov. 16, 1880.

This is a process by which a condemned tin or canvas roof can be made better than a new tin or canvas roof, and make it last forever.

It WILL NOT Crack and Leak

By reason of contraction or expansion, as is the result with a tin roof. It is simple in construction and durable in all climates. It consists only of cloth and paint composition.

BY PERMISSION WE REFER:

PORTLAND, Or., March 23, 1882.

MR. C. F. PEARSON, PORTLAND, OREGON: Dear Sir—Your Roofing Composition has been thoroughly tried in this city and so far as I know has given general satisfaction. From what I know and have seen I believe it to be better and more durable than either tin or asbestos. Very respectfully, GEO. J. AINSWORTH, Supt. River Division, O. R. & N. Co.

PORTLAND, Or., Feb. 4, 1882.

MR. C. F. PEARSON: Dear Sir—We take this opportunity to express our entire satisfaction with your roofing composition, that has been on over our store for the last five years. We shall cheerfully recommend your invention as being the best thing we know of for a roof. Respectfully yours, W. JACKSON & CO., Importers and Dealers in Crockery and Glassware, No. 54 Front St.

ALAMEDA, Cal., March 28, 1882.

MR. C. F. PEARSON: Dear Sir—I take great pleasure in being able to say that I consider your Roofing Composition a first-class article for the purpose for which it is intended, and that it possesses all qualities claimed for it, and I can cheerfully recommend it to those having need for such an article. Very respectfully, R. R. THOMPSON.

PORTLAND, Or., Feb. 24, 1882.

MR. C. F. PEARSON: Dear Sir—Allow me to testify my appreciation of your durable roofing composition. As this steamer was placed on the opposition line last summer it was roughly used by the passenger travel. It did not injure it at all. Had it been a tin or any other kind of roof it would have required repair, if not entirely spoiled. It is now in as good condition without any additional cost as when first put on. Yours respectfully, Master O. R. & N. Co.'s Str. Dixie Thompson.

MR. C. F. PEARSON: Dear Sir—Notwithstanding our efforts to secure a good roof over our immense stock of goods—we have tried asbestos roof and plain tin roof, with all the mechanical skill—we have been driven to throw out thousands of dollars from leaky roofs until we got your roofing composition on over our store. It has given entire satisfaction. Never caused the loss of goods to the value of one cent. It has now been on for years. Very respectfully yours, FLEISCHNER, MAYER & CO., Importers of Dry Goods.

OAKLAND, Cal., March 11, 1882.

C. F. PEARSON: Dear Sir—I have tried your "Roofing Composition" on several of my houses in Portland, Oregon. They all, so far as I know, have given entire satisfaction. I believe it makes a better roof than tin or asbestos. Respectfully yours, J. C. AINSWORTH.

We claim it to be superior to anything yet discovered in the shape of a roof, as it will save its cost, even on a new roof, in less than no time. The "Cloth Paint Composition," and the manner of applying the same is included in the Letter of Patent, granted Nov. 16, 1880. Any infringement on same shall be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. Orders solicited on roofing and painting. Satisfaction guaranteed. Address orders to C. F. PEARSON, Late Master Painter O. NEEDLESS EFFORT.

It was Gen. Garfield's letter to Secretary Chase that caused the removal of Gen. Rosecrans from the command of the army of the Cumberland, then Garfield did the country a most excellent service. Controversy over it is useless. Rosecrans was an utter failure as a commander, as he has been in every other occupation, including his present one of representative in congress. It was highly proper in Garfield, in discharge of his duty to the country, to furnish to Secretary Chase the information which the latter had solicited; and though Garfield's letter evinced in every line the writer's high personal regard for Rosecrans, and his loyalty to Rosecrans as his commander, nevertheless it justly commented on the timidity, hesitation and delay that characterized the leadership of the army of the Cumberland, whereby the country suffered greatly, and to which the bloody repulse at Chickamauga was due. Garfield's letter is of essential service in fixing the place of Rosecrans in history. To Garfield himself it was not only not dishonorable in any way, but now that it has been published, it shows how earnest a patriot he was, and at the same time how sagacious he was in his judgment of the dilatory and inefficient leadership that paralyzed for months one of the best of our great armies. Moreover, Garfield was entirely truthful in his statement that he had not written unkindly of Gen. Rosecrans. But he wanted to see the rebellion crushed, and he saw what the country did not see at the time, that Rosecrans was not the man for so important a command. Mr Shuckers, in the correspondence he has printed, is actuated plainly by a spirit of bitterness towards Garfield, but his effort to blacken the memory of the loyal soldier and murdered president is effort wasted. Garfield never dealt with Rosecrans as the latter deserved. He was too considerate and tender always—a kindness which Rosecrans repaid with obloquy and defamation. The country now knows that the commander of the army of the Cumberland was only the charlatan in war that he has since proved to be in politics and statesmanship. His venom against his former chief of staff has resulted in fixing his own place in history within his own lifetime. Naturally enough he is now closing his career as a fossilized democratic politician, like those in Oregon who refuse to see the propriety of getting decently under ground when the brains are out and the man is dead.

THE MECHANICS' FAIR.

The Portland mechanics' fair has come to be an institution of the country. It is an event in which thirty thousand persons, besides the people of Portland join and which yields to Portland, directly and indirectly, one hundred thousand dollars profit each year. Its attendance is drawn from the north to British Columbia, from the east to Idaho and from the south to the California line. It is the grand annual gala occasion of the whole northwest. It ought to be made in future years to be a bigger and a better show than it has been in the past. It was not a failure last year because there were music and crowds. People of this city went to hear the band and to see each other, not to be entertained by an array of stalls and bazars far inferior to the ordinary show-window exhibits on First street. People from the country went because they expected more than they found, and many went home disappointed. The management of the fair was in many respects illiberal and inefficient. It contented itself with providing fountains, a few flowers, a good deal of gaslight, good music and taking half-dollars at the door. Exhibits were left to come or not as they pleased, or having come, to arrange themselves. There was no effort—no serious or effectual effort at least—to have the industries and resources of the country represented. A few individuals with a public spirit worthy of better associations and a better management, saved the exhibit as a whole from being a ridiculous farce. The faults of the last fair should be remedied in the next. Every important industry in Oregon and Washington territory should be set forth. The [illegible] factories of this city, the woolen mills at Oregon City, Brownsville, and Ashland, the Oregon iron works, the Buena Vista pottery works, the furniture factories, the brass works and the [illegible] other manufacturing establishments should be represented, not in piles of goods, but in an interesting exhibit of processes. And so on, through the list of things worth seeing or advertising, the exhibit should be made complete. There is both profit and patriotism in a complete and attractive exhibit. And every resource of the state should find its place—grains, fruits, vegetables, wool, timber, coal, iron [illegible] the large list would be waste of words—should be fully and prominently exhibited. A commissioner should be appointed by the directors to invite such displays and to secure them. It is not sufficient to advertise through the newspapers. Every man who has anything which would add to the interest of the fair should be invited personally to display it. In this way and in this way alone can a fair exhibit be secured. In time of peace prepare for war is a good maxim. It is time now to prepare for the coming fair.

The "managers" at Washington are reviving methods which have been condemned by the whole country, and which the people will not permit. The business of official assessment is wholly bad. There is no shadow of legitimate excuse for it, and it results in evils so recently experienced that they need not to be recited. Within the past five or six years a sentiment against this sort of thing, long felt, has been asserted by honest men of both parties, and they will not allow its revival to go unpunished. Moreover, such assessment is directly in violation of laws expressed in positive statutes. Only a little while ago, Gen. Curtis of New York, was convicted of violation of these laws; and yet right under the eyes of the national administration, and probably with its aid, the thing is being done over again. Arthur's administration promises to leave the republican party in the disreputable plight in which Hayes found it at the close of the Grant-ring rule.

A democratic congressional committee of two—thoroughly disinterested and non-partisan, of course—have figured out a democratic majority of ten in the next congress. This result is the fruit of careful inquiry, which the dispatches intimate has occupied two whole weeks. Of course, such an estimate from such a source, made at such expense of effort and time, will be accepted by the country as impartial. It may not do away with the formalities of election, but the thing may be set down as fixed. But seriously, what a deal of bosh committees of both parties expect the people to believe.

The independent committee of New York is getting ready for business. Just what it proposes to do, or what it can do, are not yet known; but the fact that there is activity among the independents is important. It is evident that the best element of the republican party in the Empire state do not intend to be used by the machine.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JUNE 14, 1882

THE OREGONIAN IN EAST PORTLAND. The Daily, Weekly and Sunday Oregonian may always be found on the counter of Henry Warren's Newspaper Headquarters, Fourth St., bet. I and J.

CITY.

FIRST STEPS TOWARD CITIZENSHIP.—The noble red man is outdone. No longer can his unfortunate race bear the palm for the readiness with which at least one element of Caucasian civilization is adopted. The placid waters on Front street lay in sweet repose, and the musical murmurings from the Stark street ferry, as the waves from the Willamette washed against the edges of the pontoon, floated listlessly through the evening air as our new young man tripped lightly across the rustic foot bridge that connects THE OREGONIAN office with the outside world, in search of an item. He lingered for a few moments on the way to watch a pair of celestials wading across the street, and a party of the rising generation throwing stones and boards to splash the water upon them. This was amusement for the eastern bred young man and might have made an item to pent-up Utica, but the city editor had told him particularly that such things were very common in Portland, and he sighed deeply as he thought how easy it would be for the Chinamen to catch one of the kids and drown him. Nothing of the kind happened, however, and he passed on out into the city and up along the classic pavements of Washington street. On the corner of Second stands the Chicago Brewery Depot, and the young man hesitated for a moment before the painted windows as he jingled the last nickel in his pocket against his grandfather's jackknife. While meditating on a question of political economy, which had just suggested itself to his mind, eight Mongolians moved silently past him in Indian file and entered the place. The reporter, struck by the scene, followed. The head man stepped up to a mahogany counter and, as the company right faced and rested arms, he addressed them with the purest speech in these words: "What'll you have?" There was a chorus of voices, "Whisky straight!" A movement of the right arm, a brief pause with the eyes uplifted, a left face, forward march, and they were gone as they had come. And yet people say the Chinese will not become civilized!

DIFFICULTY IN SCARING THE BAR.—The fishermen who occupy space on the middle sands of the Columbia river entrance refuse to discontinue their avocation at the point which the government wishes to scrape for a new channel. Cannery owners have been appealed to by the U. S. engineers, but they make answer that they have no control over the hold to be occupied by boats. The tug which has the right of way of the bar cannot cut through the nets as do ocean steamers of deep draught, but catches the meshes in her propeller and shaft at the risk of disabling herself and wrecking. Fishermen do not dare to go out except on flood tides, and the tug must watch for the ebb and do her work during the fishermen's absence. Often the bar is too rough to permit dragging and most of the now precious time is lost through the action of the men who have more interest in catching fish than in protecting the commerce of a great river.

CAMP MEETING.—The Seventh Day Adventist camp meeting will begin to-day, Wednesday, June 14th, on the old ground near the O. & C. R. R., two miles north of Salem, and will continue until Tuesday the 20th. Everybody interested and those who are not, are cordially invited to attend. Speakers from California and from various parts of this state will be present. It is expected that there will be preaching three times each day, in which many of the important doctrines of the church will be presented. Provision, as far as possible for those who may need, will be found on the ground.

CHANGE IN SHERIFF.—Sheriff Mike Hatton, of Spokane county, W. T., recently fell heir to the snug little sum of $1500 by the death of an uncle in Ireland. The will stipulated that Mike come to Ireland to reside, and he has resigned the office, leaving for Ireland early in July. F. C. Montgomery, of the Cheney Sentinel, has been appointed to fill the vacancy. He came down yesterday with Adam Miller, an insane patient, whom he safely conveyed to the asylum. Mr. Montgomery is somewhat famous as a "desperado" from Kansas.

MASONIC GRAND LODGE.—The Grand Lodge, A. F. and A. M., of Oregon, is now in session in the city. The following officers have been elected: M. W. G. M., J. N. Dolph; D. W. G. M., George W. Wright, of Union; S. G. W., J. C. Fullerton, of Roseburg; G. T., Jacob Mayer; G. S., F. G. Babcock, of Salem. A large amount of routine business is being done and the session will not be closed before Thursday. The above named officers will be installed on that day.

[illegible] —The jury in the case of F. Castleman against J. O. Allen, tried before Justice Bybee, have rendered verdict. The suit was brought to recover a balance of $75 claimed by Castleman to be due him on a horse sold to Allen. The jury's verdict gave judgment against Castleman, and in favor of Allen, for $160; sort of a double-cross-the-back-action-kind of a jury, you know.

BASE BALL EXCURSION.—The "Buffsticks" and "Star" base ball clubs, of Vancouver and Portland, will play a match game of base ball at Oregon City next Sunday, at 12:30 P. M. The steamer Washington and the barge Cascades will carry passengers between Vancouver and Portland and Oregon City, leaving Vancouver at 4 A. M., and Portland at 10 A. M. Returning will leave Oregon City at 3 P. M.

TO ST. LOUIS.—Mr. Herman Sonnenfeld, for several years with the firm of Ackerman & Co., accompanied by his wife, left by the State of California for St. Louis, where they will in future reside. Mr. Sonnenfeld is a very competent business man, and made himself popular here. He was presented with a gold-headed cane by the head salesman of the retail department as a mark of their esteem.

GENEROUS RAINS.—Mail advices from eastern Oregon and Washington bring the cheering news that a bountiful rain—nearly half an inch—fell on the 8th inst. over the entire grain-growing section of the Inland Empire, thus assuring a heavy yield of wheat this fall. The rain was supplemented the day following with copious showers.

THE NEW TUG.—The powerful iron tug Pioneer, recently bought in Philadelphia by the Portland Tug Co., is being put in readiness for her voyage around the Horn. She will sail about July 1st, and is expected to arrive here between September 20 and October 1. An eastern captain and crew will bring her out.

THE "TRAVELLER."—Buchanan Bros. have purchased this steamer for the Portland-Cascade route, and repairs will be commenced upon her at once. She will commence running to the Cascades, touching at Vancouver and Washougal, on Friday, leaving foot of Morrison street at eight o'clock, A. M.

THE STEAMERS.—The Columbia arrived here at 9 o'clock last night. She brought 160 cabin passengers, 203 in the steerage, 1087 tons of freight for Portland and 157 for Astoria. The telegraph line is in a chronic state of prostration, and nothing was heard from the outgoing steamer.

MECHANICS' FAIR OFFICERS.—At a meeting of the board of directors of the Portland Mechanics' Fair, held last evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, W. B. Honeyman; vice-president, S. G. Skidmore; treasurer, W. M. Ladd; secretary, A. H. Morgan.

WILL RECEIVE FREIGHT.—The O. R. & N. Co. announce this morning that they will receive freight, except live stock and unusually bulky articles, for all points in the "Inland Empire."

MRS. WILLIAMS' LAST LECTURE.—The fourth and last lecture of Mrs. Williams' course will be given at the Unitarian chapel to-morrow night. The subject will be "Edwin Arnold."

CITY CONVENTION.—The republican city convention will meet at the court house to-day to nominate a candidate for mayor, and for one councilman in each ward.

THE "CITY OF QUINCY."—This boat was recently sold to the Puget Sound Steamboat Company, and will leave in a few days for the Skagit river trade.

The Baptists of the Willamette Association will hold their annual meeting this year in East Portland, beginning Wednesday, June 21, and not Friday, the 23d, as was published, by mistake, in the Beacon. Baptists please take notice and see fifth page of minutes. Arrangements with railroads and steamers—full fare coming and 80 per cent. deduction on return fare.

A PRESENT TO MR. VILLARD.

A beautiful painting, the work of Mr. Edward Espy, Portland's rising young artist, has been purchased by the business men of this city, and will be sent to New York by the next steamer as a present to Mr. Villard in recognition of his work in opening to commerce the great inland empire of the Pacific Northwest. The following letter, signed by the donors, accompanies the gift:

To Mr. Henry Villard:—DEAR SIR—We, the undersigned, citizens of Portland, Oregon, in a desire to express by some tangible token our gratitude to you and our high appreciation of your able and untiring efforts to open up the inexhaustible resources of the Great Pacific Northwest, beg you to accept at our hands, as an evidence of our high regard and esteem, the landscape painting entitled "Cascades of the Columbia River," painted by the young artist, Mr. Edward Espy, of our city. A CARD TO THE PUBLIC.

A testimonial (so called) published in THE OREGONIAN, purporting to have come from Julie Rive-King, the famous pianist, and without the signature of the author, wherein she appears to now endorse the Steinway piano, demands a reply. Not only in justice to this great artist, but in justice to the famous Decker Bros. piano, which Madam King uses exclusively at all of her concerts. Perfection in the construction of a piano is the great desideratum desired by such artists as Madam King. We admit that the Steinway once sustained quite a fair reputation—purchased with money—and many were sold for first-class pianos. But, like the stage coach of ye olden time, it is left behind, to give place to the elegant palace car. Messrs. Decker Bros., of New York, after forty years of untiring energy, have produced the crowning perfection in piano-fortes. So enviable is their reputation that unprincipled parties have attempted to pirate their name and counterfeit their pianos. Yes, resurrect from dusty archives feigned testimonials to support their failing business. In conclusion, suffice it to say, that that the most convincing proof of the superiority of the Decker Bros. piano is that Madam King uses none other at all of her concerts. An electrotype testimonial to Messrs. Decker Bros., bearing her autograph, will appear in a few days.

FROM THE FRONT.

The Flood in Clark's Fork—No Mail Facilities—Enterprise of Wells, Fargo & Co.—A Lawyer Wanted.

CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN. CABINET LANDING, Montana, June 9.

The Clark's Fork river at this point continues to rise at the rate of 10 inches in 24 hours. The gauge at this writing—2 P. M.—indicates 16 feet above low water mark, or within two feet of high water mark. A slight rainfall of the nights of the 5th and 6th insts., accompanied by deafening peals of thunder and most vivid displays of nature's system of electric lights, has somewhat cooled the atmosphere, which, for the several days preceding, was almost unendurably oppressive, the thermometer ranging from 90 deg. to 100 deg. in the shade. The tributary streams are booming. Immense bodies of drift are continually passing down the river, while the bottom lands for many miles near its mouth are submerged.

Superintendent Hallett has taken every precaution against possible ravages of the flood, and is, beyond the loss of some few piles that had been driven in the river to facilitate the construction of the bridge, there has been no damage to any of the railroad company's works.

The lower portion of the town of Cabinet, occupied principally by wholesale establishments, such as Geo. E. Carr & Co., D. W. Small, Hawkins & Co., N. P. R. R. engineer commissary department, etc., and others, is already partially, and within a few days will be completely, submerged, causing those merchant princes of Cabinet to either float away or retreat to the higher elevation or adopt the tactics of The Dalles' residents.

Hawkins & Co. of this town were somewhat taken aback yesterday by the reception of a number of letters postmarked at Portland, May 5, with the additional postmarks of San Francisco, Ogden, Deer Lodge and Missoula. From the latter place they were brought by post team down the Clark's Fork to its terminus, a distance by trail of about 180 miles. Right here it may not be inappropriate to plainly state that practically there are scarcely any, and, indeed, no reliable U. S. mail facilities afforded to nearly 4,000 men in this immediate section. However, I am glad to be able to state that Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express have recently placed messengers upon the trains to the Clark's Fork crossing, whence express and mail matter is carried by the steamer Villard to their agency at Cabinet. It is the only reliable manner in which mail can at present be sent to or from the front. The express company are entitled to thanks of those interested for their enterprise in this matter.

A new steamboat, to be used for construction purposes, is to be immediately built by the railroad company. It will ply between Rock Island rapids—twenty miles above Cabinet—and Thompson Falls, a distance of fifty miles of continuous navigation.

At this point on Saturday, the 31 inst., Wynn Thogen, a half-breed, formerly employed as cook at El... was shot through the heart by a woman of the town. A coroner's and an informal court of justice combined was at once organized to jointly hold an inquest upon the body and try the case. The court was composed of Probate Judge Melder, Deputy Sheriff Wright, of Kootenai, Idaho, and a committee of the Cabinet Vigilantes. The accused was acquitted on the ground of justifiable homicide or self-defense.

Cannot Portland spare some shrewd, enterprising young limb of the law? There is a fine opening at Westwood to assist in the running of Kootenai county, Idaho. In superficial area it presents an illimitable field for the display of talent, especially in the collection of taxes. However, it must not be supposed that Judge Melder and Sheriff Wright were traveling under a "letter of marque" upon their recent tax-collecting visit to this point. Indeed, it would seem unreasonable to expect that two such pre-eminently practical men as Messrs. M. and W. should accept as legal any purely imaginary territorial boundary line.

Mr. E. H. Tillman and Dr. Staulel, of St. Louis, are temporarily sojourning here, the guests of Superintendent Hallett. They are en route to their home via the Northern Pacific, traveling over the unfinished portion of the line in private conveyance. The gentlemen are nephews of Henry Villard.

MESSRS. STEINWAY & SONS—Gentlemen: Just returning as I am from an extended tour of this country and Canada, having used one of your celebrated Concert Grands during my Tournée, which embraced 136 Concerts, I cannot but express to you my unlimited admiration of the marvelous durability of your pianos, besides their matchless qualities of tone and touch. The weather, as you know, during the past season was unusually severe. For 4 weeks during our concerts in the far west the thermometer was never higher than 10 degrees below zero and at St. Paul 44 degrees below zero during my concerts there. Notwithstanding the severe test of the instrument by the elements, I used the piano almost nightly, which necessitated transportation on an average of 100 miles per day, the piano having no protection but a canvas cover. I found it always equal to the occasion, rarely requiring tuning, and during all this time not a string broke or a hammer out of order.

Will you kindly send me one of your small Grands (if possible the same one I had before) for my private use while in the city.

In the constant use of your pianos in my own home, and in all my public concerts, where I have had my own choice, I have become so accustomed to them, that I do not feel at home without them. Please accept these lines from one who prefers your pianos to all others. Yours respectfully,

JULIA RIVE-KING.

Death from Heart Disease of Martin Madigan at Cheney, W. T.—The Work of the Green-Eyed Monster at Astoria.

From the Cheney Sentinel the following particulars of a sudden death, from heart disease, are taken: On Wednesday morning Martin Madigan, who until Monday was foreman of the carpenter gang at the Cheney depot, died very suddenly. For several days previous he had been dissipating, and this, it is believed, brought on a spasm of the heart. She went for a doctor, and on returning a few minutes later found her husband dead. His body was taken to St. ... yesterday for burial. It is stated that Carlson's suspicions having been aroused in relation to visits ... in wait and upon Scott's ... from the house, shot him in the ... passing out under the ... Carlson gave himself up yesterday morning and was put in jail. The wounded man was conveyed to St. Mary's hospital. The only danger would seem to be that inflammation may supervene.

DEATH OF MRS. HELEN CLOUTRIE.

At Seaside, Clatsop county, Oregon, May 25, 1882, Mrs. Helen Cloutrie, aged about 47 years.

Mrs. Cloutrie was born at Vancouver, W. T. Her father, Capt. Alexander Lattie, a native of Scotland, came to Oregon about 1827, in command of a Hudson Bay Company ship, and I think was stationed at Astoria. He afterwards became one of the first bar and river pilots of the Columbia and piloted the first steamer that crossed the bar and entered the waters of that noble river. He was drowned on September 21, 1849, aged about 47 years. He is ... to have been a true representative of the gentlemen of the honorable Hudson Bay Co., who were justly celebrated for their kindness and hospitality. Bancroft says, in his history of Oregon:

"These gentlemen (of the Hudson Bay Company at Vancouver), as far as social habits are concerned, have acquired for themselves and the company, of which they are chief features, an enviable reputation for hospitality and kindness. Few persons who have entered by land or by sea, have ever visited Vancouver without being received with a hospitality which knew no bounds, until every want of the traveler was supplied. Innumerable have been the favors bestowed by them upon the American missionaries, and assistance has been rendered at times when great inconvenience, and even suffering, would have resulted from neglect. For all these acts of kindness these gentlemen, with many others at the various other points in the country, equally as well disposed, are deserving of much praise."

Mrs. Cloutrie had no superior as a dutiful daughter, a kind sister, a noble wife, and the most indulgent and kind of mothers joined with a true faith in the Christian religion. She leaves a husband, several daughters, one brother and one sister to mourn a great loss. Very many will long remember her goodness and kindness of heart. Of her it may be truly said in the words of Solomon: "Her children rise up and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praiseth her."

IMPROVEMENT!

The old buildings on Morrison street, between Front and First—ancient city landmarks, as they were—have at last succumbed to the march of progress and improvement. They are now demolished, and on their site a spacious and elegant building will be erected.

The new building, first and second floors, will be occupied by the GOLDEN RULE BAZAAR, now doing business at 162 First street, next door to corner of Morrison. The back wall of this latter building will be taken out to make connection with the new structure, completing the handsomest and brightest store in Portland.

During the erection of the new building, special inducements are being offered at 162 First street. The proprietors of the GOLDEN RULE BAZAAR possess exceptional facilities. They procure the newest and most desirable goods from European and American manufacturers, and offer them, WHOLESALE and RETAIL, at strictly New York rates.

This assertion has been found to be correct by every visitor to the establishment. They sell all goods at one price, which price is marked in plain figures. They guarantee every article in the establishment; being willing to cheerfully exchange goods or return money, when so desired.

They are pleased to show visitors through their store, urging no one to purchase.

Their stock consists of Ladies' Fancy Goods, such as laces, corsets, ribbons, dress trimmings, handkerchiefs, gloves, hosiery, etc.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

Southern Oregon.

Hay-making is in progress in portions of Douglas county.

The Ashland woolen mills are paying 25 cents a pound for wool.

Charles Higgins, of North Coos river, makes 37 pounds of butter weekly from the milk of seven cows.

Aaron Rose recently took in one day at the South Umpqua dam 12 sturgeon, which measured from five to eight feet in length.

Seven trees were struck by lightning in sight of the dwelling of Stephen Rogers on Coos river, during a thunder storm last week.

The Sisters are having a new two story building erected in Jacksonville for school purposes. It will be ready for occupancy in the fall.

Prof. Ladru Royal has been chosen president of Ashland college. Miss Alena Webben will be continued director of music in that institution the coming year.

It is estimated that 500,000 bushels of apples are allowed to rot in Douglas county every year. These, if properly handled, might prove a profitable source of revenue to the orchardists.

James [illegible], the old man who had his leg sawed off in the [illegible] of Canyon City some months ago, has so far recovered, notwithstanding his age, 81 years, that he was able to go and vote on election day.

The run of salmon has been good this spring in Rogue river. Besides a number of white men, there are about 30 Chinamen employed in the cannery at Ellensburg. On Saturday last they had on hand about 4000 fish, and had been working an extra force during the night. R. D. Hume, the proprietor, has erected a large refrigerator, in which salmon fresh until they can be canned.

Capt. Reed is making good progress with the vessel now on the ways at the Marshfield shipyard. Her deck is laid and she is more than half planked, with four-inch plank. The ceiling used in her is nine inches thick and edge-bolted. This is the largest vessel ever built in this yard, and the Western Shore, put up at North Bend, is the only one ever built on the bay to surpass her in size. She is a brigantine, with 160-foot keel, 36 feet beam and 14-foot hold, and will be the second keel vessel built on the bay. Her cost will be $35,000. Work on her was commenced about the middle of January, and Capt. Reed expects to launch her the latter part of next month, immediately after which he will commence work on another vessel, the arrangements for building which are now being made.

Washington Territory.

The overflow of White river will cause much loss to potato growers.

Burnett & Co. are now turning out 15,000 shingles per day at their Seattle shingle mill.

The following is told by the Pierce County News: In the [illegible] of two years [illegible] roofs of many houses [illegible] were broken [illegible] among others the [illegible] G. A. Nealy, on White river. The [illegible] roof of the place where the [illegible] until a few days ago [illegible] took place, and 270 jaw bones [illegible] found, showing that that number lost [illegible] that time. Mr. N. has so many that he [illegible] the large number.

The [illegible] annual convocation of Washington [illegible] Trinity church, Seattle, commencing Thursday morning, June 22d. A preliminary service will be held on Wednesday evening, the 21st inst. This is expected to be the most important gathering of the clergy ever assembled in Washington territory. Two of the bishops, besides others of the clergy of British Columbia, have signified their intention to be present. The "Woman's Auxiliary" will hold its usual meeting; and it is believed that a large number of laymen of the jurisdiction will be present.

Walla Walla Statesman: [illegible] having been questioned [illegible] wool [illegible] the [illegible] concerning the shipment [illegible] made this season. As they are less apt to decrease than they are to increase, they may be taken as a basis of calculation; and we herewith attach the names of the owners and sellers: The Cox brothers have already shipped 80,000 pounds. To follow will be Adams Bros., 100,000; LeGrow, 40,000; [illegible], 40,000; Goodwin, 10,000; Drumheller, 35,000; Lamar, 25,000; Hunsaker, 30,000; C. Bush, 20,000; [illegible] Johnson, 12,00; Sinclair, 10,000; Johnson, 25,000; Yeend, 30,000; Longly, 20,000; Walley, 25,000; Paxton, 20,000; Peland, 25,000; McGlin & Gentry, 25,000. These figures foot up to 434,000 pounds. Making a low estimate of the aggregate from the farmers who have small lots of from 1000 to 3000 pounds to sell, there will be between 600,000 and 700,000 pounds, perhaps more than that, gathered this season. In our estimate of the cost of a mill, and what it would take up, made some days ago, 300,000 pounds of wool was the amount given. We have here an amount equal to supply a mill of very large [illegible] The question is not, have we the supply [illegible] not erect a mill and manufacture [illegible] for which we are now paying a heavy premium to eastern manufactories.

YAKIMA COUNTY MINES.

Something About what Three Companies are Doing—Plain Statements of Facts.

OCCASIONAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.

PESHASTIN, W. T., June 6.

The Yakima county gold mines have not hitherto attracted that attention that their importance would warrant. The old process of running arastras has been tedious and too slow to make much show. That the rock worked by the Shafer mining company on the Peshastin has been high grade ore is a fact patent here for some time. The indications for a rich camp are [illegible] the rock formation [illegible] together, are proof of the richness of the camp, but the most indubitable proof is furnished by the resultant work of the ore itself.

The mill commenced work about three weeks ago on five tons of rock that was left over last fall, which had been culled over, and the yield was $300. The ore from the Shafer lode has had several assays that were over $80 to the ton. There [illegible] banked near the [illegible] for milling and [illegible] feet; at [illegible] that is what [illegible] to the [illegible] The ore has [illegible] almost from the first and seems to grow better as work is extended in. The five-stamp mill owned by the Shafer Mining Co., Cooper & Lockwood's, is run night and day, every day in the week, and has a capacity of five to eight tons per day. The rock varies, some being much harder than others.

There are employed in packing quartz, running the sawmill, driving tunnels and roasting rock, some 12 persons. The elder Lockwood, assisted by his son Isaac, gives matters [illegible] attention and for this month (June) [illegible] $150 per day with [illegible] are something near $50 a day at this time; part of this expense is incurred by building dwelling houses. The course of the lodes is south of east and north of west. Westerly from Peshastin it runs through the high divide between it and Nigger creek. The latter place is where Blinn & Co. are located. The tunnel is now in 45 feet. Some 20 tons of ore is banked ready for crushing, and the battery will be set in motion to-morrow. It was set up late last fall and was only operated about a day [illegible] how it would work. Maj. [illegible] the only representative of [illegible] and the water will [illegible] him in a company sense. He is eminently a practical man, [illegible] believe in doing anything by halves [illegible] is a substantial [illegible] The wheel [illegible] Nigger creek, has a fall of [illegible] and is operated by a 20-inch turbine wheel. The penstock is a neat contrivance, circular [illegible] together in staves like a barrel, and is [illegible] with iron and rope. It is unlike [illegible] the writer has ever seen before, but the contrivance shows that the major possesses ingenuity as well as mechanical tact for trying emergencies. There is room and power sufficient for the addition of another battery. The wheel works like a charm, and has a fast motion. I predict that the major will soon give a good account, in a money sense, of his work. The lode extends westward through a higher and steeper mountain, which is still covered with snow. Its inaccessibleness is a barrier to its being [illegible]

The [illegible] is an [illegible] Cassidy & Lawrence [illegible] and W. D. Phelps are [illegible] The tunnel is in 55 feet and 90 feet deep. The ore vein is 7 to 8 feet wide and assays $30 per ton, average rock. These facts were obtained from Mr. Livingston, one of the men employed in driving the tunnel. This mine is of easy access as a wagon can be driven nearly to it. Steps have been taken to place a mill there for the reduction of the ore at an early day. It is said by experts to be a well defined ledge and from which large results may, with reason, be expected.

Very little capital has been employed in the development of these several mines. Cooper & Lockwood have been cautious and made the mine pay its way almost from the outset. They have no debts beyond what a week's run will discharge. Major Blinn has [illegible] to push [illegible] results [illegible] and [illegible] that exists in possibility, out of his rock.

Placer mines are being worked this season on the head waters of Wilson creek, which lies easterly from Peshastin some 8 or 10 miles. Want of water will make it a short season for working. D. L. S.

CŒUR D'ALENE RAILROAD.

Dr. J. P. Tiernan, who is now in this city negotiating with the O. R. & N. Co. for some light rail road iron for the above road, has in us an account of the projection of a new railroad and steamboat company which has been formed. It is from a Spokane paper:

We have before us the articles of incorporation of the Cœur d'Alene Railroad and Steamboat Co., a new movement organized by San Francisco and eastern capitalists. The incorporators are W. B. Fife, J. P. Tiernan and F. E. Smith, men well known in our city and throughout the territory. The object of the incorporation is to build, equip and operate a railroad and telegraph line from Rathdrum to a point on Cœur d'Alene lake, near the post. Also to build and navigate steamboats on Cœur d'Alene lake and river and the St. Joe river, and to build other lines of railroads in Washington, Idaho, Montana and Oregon. The capital stock of the company is $1,000,000, and Spokane Falls, W. T., is the principal place of business. The aforesaid gentlemen are also the trustees to manage the corporation for the first six months of its existence. From Mr. F. E. Smith we gained the following information: The line from Rathdrum to the Cœur d'Alene lake is located definitely. The company expect to build a road from the head of navigation on the St. Joseph river to Farmington, in time to bring the next harvested crop into Spokane Falls. The line of the road to the lake from Rathdrum is very easily built. The company intend erecting a saw mill near the post that will cut 100,000 feet of lumber daily. This will be built this summer. A wagon road has been made from Rockford to the lake, a distance of about seven miles, and that country will be tributary to the road until the N. P. R. R. feeder is built from this place. The steamers to be built from this place will be similar to those used on the Willamette river. There will be two of them and they will be very light draft to enable them to navigate the two rivers easily.

The Rockford and Farmington countries are generally known to the most thickly populated portions of our country, and about the very finest wheat growing localities. The importance of thus securing this trade to our city will at once be perceived.

The character of the timber around Cœur d'Alene is unusually fine. In fact it is the best body of timber within reach of the railroads. The company intend lumber yards shall be maintained in towns along the line of the N. P. R. R. There are large quantities of both white pine and cedar near the lake and of very superior quality. There is a great deal of fine unclaimed farming land along the Cœur d'Alene and St. Joseph rivers, and some considerable settlement.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN,

Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast in the Treatment of

ALL CHRONIC & DIFFICULT DISEASES

DR. BRENAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of disease of the generative organs or private disease. He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH.

Such as Spermatorrhoea, or Seminal Weakness, or Loss of Perfect Virility. Nearly two-thirds of all the chronic diseases spring either directly or indirectly from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit these diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down, and the hope of future happiness blasted, and death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.
